THE HONGKONG TELEGRAPH, FRIDAY, JULY 1, 1892.

utterances may occasionally be worthy of consideration. Even a goose may be of use beyond the purposes of the table, for have we not got it on record that the "City of the Seven Hills" was saved by the midnight cackling in the Capitol? That instant danger is not to be feared. I feel certain, but in order that the fortress should be properly cared for the videttes and outlying fortresses should be properly chosen—which think they are not. As for the general and specific inside the Capitol they are—4 British—to be fairly trusted to work honestly. 3 Teutons—to be trusted to work for the interest of the Fatherland and their own pockets. 2 Hebrews—who must go solid for the three balls of Lombardy, and the devil take the hindmost.

Yours faithfully,
A SHAREHOLDER,
P.S.—Keep on going for hereditary and Nepotism. You are right.
Hongkong, 1st July, 1892.

A VETERAN UNRECOGNISED.

To THE EDITOR OF THE "HONGKONG TELEGRAPH." SIR,—Having heard a great deal of your paper I venture to write you this letter, trusting that you will excuse the liberty I take. Being unable to work through my age and sickness, deprived of my daily food, and without any means whatever to get a subsistence, I respectfully beg you will be so kind as to expose my case to the public (the military authorities in particular). I have had the honor of serving in the British Army for 10 years, and have seen a great deal of service. In the old 9th I fought in the Crimea and was twice severely wounded. I exchanged into the 60th Rifles, and fought in India. At Delhi I was with Lieut. Heathcote, who won the V.C. for his conspicuous bravery at the storming of Cashmere Gate. I had a narrow escape of being killed by the rebels, along with privates Morris and Thompson of my Company, and also a lance corporal, by name Scott, of the 7th.

I was present with my regiment in all the affairs in the last campaign of the China War in 1860 and saved Col. Reeves, C.B., of the 9th, from being severely wounded at the taking of the Peho Forts. Through this brave officer I got my discharge from the Army here in Hongkong, some 30 years ago.

I may say that if General Sergeant, C.B., was here I am almost sure he would do something for me, as we served in the same Regiment in the Crimea. He exchanged to the 3rd Buffs. We met again in China, and he knows me well. My papers and my 6 medals are more than sufficient to convince any one of the truth of my statement, but my present circumstances and the state I am in forbid my appearing before any one. Therefore I shall be very much obliged if you would publish this letter, although I may be in rather broken English, in order that the authorities or the public might take my misery into consideration. My age now is 65 years, and I am quite unfit for any hard work, but would thankfully accept any position which an honest man who is past his time could fill.

I have the honour to be, Sir,
Your humble Servant,

J. W. BRENNER,
late Sergeant of the 9th Royal Rifles.
P.S.—It is of no use applying to any officers of the Army in this Garrison, as they are mostly young men and they didn't know me.

J. W. B.
Hongkong, 30th November, 1892.

We should like to receive any suggestion as to what could be done in Mr. Brenner's case. Perhaps some of our officers could give us an idea.—H.K. Telegraph.

LIFE ON THE MOON.

It does not seem improbable that in the course of events the earth and the moon may become more intimately acquainted. A few years ago scientists held the theory that the moon was a dead planet, without atmosphere, and consequently uninhabited. This theory has recently been entirely controverted.

The Brit. Govt. is reducing its debt slowly. Its bonds are of three distinct sorts—funded, unfunded and terminal consolites—and they yield 3%, 4% and 5% per cent.

The underground electric railway proposed for Paris is to traverse the city in the direction of its greatest length, which will cause it approximately to follow the course of the Seine.

American Lynch law has been established in Tangier, the innovation having been introduced through the lack of judges and gendarmes. Eight Arabs have been lynched.

The larcenies are reappearing in Algeria in greater numbers than ever, in spite of the efforts that were made by the French Administration last year to annihilate these pests.

The returns show that last year 334,543 persons left the United Kingdom for places out of London to Constantinople.

General Booth, in an urgent appeal for funds, announced that "the funds for both the spiritual and social branches of the work of the army are more than exhausted."

Photographic observations show a perfect mirror of the moon, and upon the summit of one of the highest mountains is a white spot which has the appearance of a glacier, proving the presence of atmosphere and making the theory of the habitability of the moon tenable. It is claimed by Prof. Holden that by a continuous series of photographs he is able to detect any changes upon the surface of the moon, and that a building fifty feet in height would cast an appreciable shadow.

If the moon is inhabited the fact will certainly be discovered sooner or later, but the question of the establishment of communication is still unsolved, although in the face of the scientific achievements of the last century we will not predict that it is unavoidable.—Chicago Graphic.
